

Funny Poems Podcast #6

This show has all LIVE recordings from children's author Robert Pottle's school visits and other travels. In this Funny Poems Podcast funny poet Robert Pottle says, "Hi." to students in the schools he recently visited: Crooked River Elementary, C.K. Burns Middle School, Calias Free Library, Forest Park Elementary, and also to the people he met at IRA in Chicago. Enjoy Funny Poems Podcast #6!

Direct Link to Podcast <-- Click to download/listen

Link to RSS feed for Podcast <-- Click to add RRS feed to your podcatcher

Subscribe with iTunes <-- Click to subscribe using iTunes

What's the Funny Poems Podcast?

Funny poet Robert Pottle provides his Funny Poems Podcast for his fans - children, teachers and parents. During each Funny Poems Podcast he recites his own funny poetry, gives news about his websites, and says, "Hello!" to the schools he has recently visited.

Children's author Robert Pottle visits schools regularly. His Funny Poems Podcast is one of the ways he keeps the infectious enthusiasm for children's poetry spreading though the schools he visits long after the actual day of the author visit.

The easiest way to the Funny Poems Podcast is to click the Direct Link to Podcast link above. This will download an MP3 file to your computer. Many computers are set up to automatically open the MP3 file in the default MP3 player, such as winamp or iTunes.

If you have podcatcher software you may click the Link to RSS feed for Funny Poems Podcast link above and then add the URL to your podcatcher. Your podcatcher will then automatically download each new episode of the Funny Poems Podcast.

If you have iTunes, click on the iTunes link above, this will automatically open iTunes to the page for the Funny Poems Podcast. From here you can subscribe to the Funny Poems Podcast and iTunes will automatically download each new episode.